The hot weather is on us and our Soda Fountain is wide open. Listen to what our patrons say about our soda:
"Gee but it's good!"
"Cold as charity!"
"It's just scandalous!"
"That's a wet drink for dry people!"
"Well what do you know about that?"
"Isn't it nippy?"
"Good for that dark brown taste!"

EXCURSION OF THE DEAF

REUNION AND CONVENTION IS HELD IN OGDEN.

Association for the Promotion of the Interests of the Deaf is Formed to Meet in This City.

Fifty-four persons, including graduates and ex-pupils of the Ogden school for the deaf, attended the first reunion and convention, which has been in session at the State School for the Deaf and Blind in this city since Thursday morning. A varied and interesting program of exercises was carried out during the first two days of the convention, and this was interspersed with events of a social character that were fully appreciated by those in attendance.

Superintendent Driggs and his staff of assistants were indefatigable in their efforts to entertain the guests, and the latter roamed at will over institution and grounds in home-like enjoyment of special privileges and pleasure.

During the convention an association for the promotion of interests of the deaf was formed and the following officers were chosen:

President, Elizabeth DeLong; first vice president, Jacob Beck; second vice president, Ivy Griggs; secretary, M. J. Mathies; treasurer, Paul Mack.

It was decided to hold similar conventions biennially in the future and to assemble, if possible, at the Ogden State School for the Deaf and Blind for this purpose.

This morning the members of the convention with a number of invited guests, took the Rio Grande train for an excursion to Saltair. An elegant lunch for the occasion was provided by Superintendent Driggs, and the party rolled out of the Union Depot for a day of enjoyment with happiness and contentment radiating from every countenance.

VACOS' SLAYER OF CONTOS, IS CONTENTED IN JAIL

Sheriff Barlow Wilson and his staff are busy taking an accurate personal description of eight inmates of the county jail. This includes the history of each as far as possible, the age, height, weight, color of eyes and hair, together with a brief description of scars, wounds, marks and the like found on the body.

Among the others undergoing the examination of record is Nick Vacos, awaiting trial for the shooting of John Contos on the evening of April 3 last. Nick is looking much better and stronger than when first placed under arrest. He is apparently contented with his surroundings and is looking forward to his trial with evident hope of receiving lenient consideration from a jury. Asked by a Standard reporter how he is getting along under imprisonment, Vacos replied:

"Why, I am all right and passing the time away as agreeably as one could in my surroundings. The jail doesn't offer a variety of entertainments, of course, but I am treated nicely by Sheriff Wilson and his deputies and certainly have no reason to complain. I get a little lonesome occasionally, but am in better health now than for a long time and, taking everything into consideration, am reasonably happy. My friends have not deserted me and I am grateful for their kindness at this time."

JUDGE CUNNELL ORDERS BOYS SENT TO THEIR HOMES

Juvenile Judge Gunnell disposed of a number of youthful cases this afternoon which have been attracting more or less attention from the officers of the juvenile court of late. Ralph Hall has been sent to Iowa where he will be under the supervision of his relatives. Bryan Boyle goes to a ranch near Promontory Point where his sister will see that he walks the "straight and narrow path" henceforth. Floyd Hillen's fate rests with his parents. They were given until tonight to decide whether they can provide proper control for him, otherwise he must go to the Industrial school. Frank Williams, who annexed a bicycle, was given until today to pay $10 for same. Percy Tanner was given until today to return a wheel he had stolen. Harold Kessler and brother have been sent to Dakota, where they will be looked after by relatives.

In this way Judge Gunnell, has avoided sending a number of alleged incorrigibles to the Industrial school in hopes that kindness and "another chance" will succeed in the work of reformation and do it more effectively than were the boys to be sent to the school.

ARRIVAL OF WARSHIPS CAUSES AN UPROAR.

Caracas, Venezuela, June 11.—There was an uproar in congress today arising from the recent visit of American warships to La Guaira. Heated speeches were made demanding the removal of Senator Paul, who had called for the warships, from his post as special envoy to Europe in the settlement of outstanding difficulties between several of the powers and Venezuela.

Consequently the government has cabled Senator Paul, removing him on the ground that the calling of the warships to La Guaira was an insult to the dignity of the country.

SPANISH ARTIST MAKES 500,000 IN THREE MONTHS

New York, June 11.—Jaquin Sorolla y Bastida, a Spanish artist, called for France yesterday with $500,000 American money. Just five months ago he arrived here with 346 of his own paintings and a European reputation. It is said that he sold the paintings for $200,000 to private collectors and secured $200,000 by executing commissions for paintings since his arrival.

CIRCUS GENIUS IS RARE.

Mr. Wallace, of Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows, Is One of a Few Successful Men.

A big modern circus and menagerie probably embraces more different kinds of system and discipline than any other business in which men engage for profit. It is a fact not generally known that the average number of circuses starting out each spring would foot up to the amazing total of a possible two hundred. Where they go no one knows. They start out buoyantly enough, but somehow they never seem to get back. When one considers that this has been going on in America for the past seventy-five years, it is really remarkable that so few men have succeeded in the circus business. It seems pretty clear that a variety of genius not common is necessary to become a successful circus proprietor.

There are only three or four well-known circus names today, and two of them, "Hagenbeck" and "Wallace" are among the most prominent. The combination of the Wallace Circus as made two years ago with the Hagenbeck animal interests has developed a show different in a sense from the other big shows, the trained wild animals giving it a feature both unique and interesting.

These animal actors are the aristocrats of the menagerie and they look down upon the common animals, those used only for exhibition, with supreme contempt. These brute actors are jealous, too. The trainers and assistants must be very careful not to pay too much attention to the other beasts or their charges will sulk or might take a notion to do even worse. A huge Bengal tiger will be a good friend with his trainer and show every evidence of delight when the man removes the doors from his cage each morning. They exchange greetings and the beast holds his head down against the bars to be scratched—purrs all the while in loud double bass purrs that can be heard all over the big menagerie tents. But it behooves the man to be exceedingly careful, for one false move and the tiger's mood changes like lightning and the man's arm may be torn off, or, indeed, he may be killed in the twinkling of an eye.

The business of training and performing wild animals is surely a hazardous occupation at best, and there are but few men who ever undertake it. There is a public demand for thrills, though, and what the public wants it usually gets. The Hagenbeck animals are the only wild beasts that have been successfully exhibited in this country and the opportunity to see them Monday on June 21 should not be overlooked.

Germany Home of Canary Birds. The export of canary birds from Germany is very large. Every year about 130,000 of these birds are sent to America, 3,000 to England, and some 2,000 to Russia.
